

Government can help with climate

Thank you for E.J. Dionne's commentary "Government is the solution." As Abraham Lincoln said, "The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people, whatever they need to have done, but can not do, at all, or can not, so well do, for themselves in their separate, and individual capacities."

Climate change is a perfect example of a problem that none of us can fix by ourselves. We need the federal government to pass a revenue-neutral tax on carbon to encourage consumers to use less fossil fuel and to encourage investors to invest in developing cleaner energies.

Please endorse H.R. 3242, The Save Our Climate Act.
