

Half the answer

Brookline, Mass.: Bill McKibben's Op-Ed about Exxon was accurate but omitted an important detail: He didn't say how to help America enact effective, economical emissions policy ("The AG's noble fight vs. Exxon," June 23). Exxon has said carbon fees are the best policy to calmly, methodically reduce fossil fuel emissions throughout our economy. I'd like McKibben to write an Op-Ed with Exxon's communications director discussing why an oil company would want to pay carbon fees and how he's going to help them make it happen. Judy Weiss

LINK