Thank you for presenting the debate (“Slugfest,” Oct. 2) between U.S. Sen Scott Brown and Elizabeth Warren. However, it would have helped if you also told us if there was substance to the candidates’ claims.

For example, Brown said that ending oil and gas tax subsidies would only raise prices for motorists and homeowners. Ending the oil and gas tax subsidies can help ordinary taxpayers, because the money saved could be used to balance the budget, or pay for another jobs bill.
