

The Public Pulse, March 16

Pipeline foe extending effort to Omaha

Thank you for World-Herald staff writer Joe Duggan's article noting Rhode Island Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse's March 19 trip to Omaha in support of Bold Nebraska and against the Keystone XL.

Whitehouse has shown determination in bringing climate change to the public's attention via lectures from the Senate floor.

There once was a senator from Arizona who had similar persistence, rectitude and moral fiber. He, too, cared about the environment and sought legislation to lower carbon dioxide emissions. What happened to Sen. John McCain, the Republican maverick? Why isn't he standing with Whitehouse to oppose KXL and to sponsor a revenue-neutral carbon tax?

Rabbi Judy Weiss, Brookline, Mass.

<http://www.omaha.com/article/20140316/NEWS08/140319075>